We are grateful to the House of Commons Library for once again assisting with the results collection. It was encouraging to see public interest in last year's elections grow after they were made freely available on the Library's own website.

Our profound thanks to both Adam Gray and Ken Leadbeater. Adam helps in collecting nominations and also generously shares his results with us, especially when some local authorities seem reluctant to provide a full electoral service on their own websites. The maps are also his work and we are grateful for his permission to use them here.

Ken cross-checks and amends our data on candidates from his own records. This work means that we now feel more confident about the information that appears in Table 4 in the introduction.

Tables 3 and 4, as well as those in the Appendix, were compiled by Galina Borisyuk. It is thanks to her efforts that the database is up-dated with each set of results. This is the fourth Handbook that has appeared since we all left the University of Plymouth in 2017 and Galina has played a full role in ensuring it continues into what is now its thirty-seventh edition.

The Scottish results and tables, which have their own section within the Handbook, were compiled by David Denver of the University of Lancaster. David was publishing Scottish results some time before we began our coverage of England and Wales.

The bugbear of missing/incomplete electorates, ballot papers and turnout continues to annoy. Most, if not all, local authority websites provide full details of each ward's result, but some authorities are still failing to include information about how many electors could have voted and how many actually did vote. The simple expedient of publishing a simple table (a CSV file also, please) containing ward name, eligible electorate on the day, number of ballot papers issued and number of invalid votes would be appreciated. This information should include electorate numbers for any uncontested wards. Obtaining these data from some local authorities has proved impossible this year.

Introduction

The Conservatives lost more than a quarter of the near 1,900 seats they were defending across England, Scotland and Wales, but Labour were far from the sole beneficiaries. The Liberal Democrats advanced in England especially, and the Greens more than doubled councillor numbers.

Our post-election analysis undertaken for the Sunday Times considered 7 million local election votes cast across 137 councils, in order to calculate a 'national equivalent vote' (NEV) of how the parties would have fared if these elections had taken place in every part of the country.

The 2022 NEV put the Conservatives on 33%, a much lower figure than at either last year's local elections or the 2019 general election, and four points down on the comparable contests in 2018. Labour was estimated to have 35%, a marginal decline on four years ago, but better than most of its recent electoral performances.

This equates to a seven percentage point swing from Conservative to Labour since the December 2019 general election. The Liberal Democrats, who usually perform more strongly at local level, are five points up on the vote share received three years before.

Overall, the results provide further evidence of changes to the geography of electoral behaviour. Analysis shows the swing from Conservative to Labour since the 2018 elections is greatest in the south, 3.2%, followed by 2.2% in London. But the north swung in the opposite direction, albeit by less than one percentage point, with the midlands unchanged.

Two related factors are at work. In wards where census figures show a third or more of the population are university-educated, the swing is strongly in Labour's favour. In wards where the proportion of graduates is no higher than one in seven, the swing was equally strong, but in the opposite direction. For wards where we have voting figures from the EU referendum, areas that supported the Remain option swung away from the Conservatives.

Having already reached an historic high four years ago, Labour gained more seats and councils in London. Wandsworth has not been Labour for 40 years; Barnet and Westminster had never previously been controlled by the party since the boroughs were created in 1964. In Westminster, Labour's vote increase was the second largest, bettered only by the seven-point rise in Bexley (see Appendix). These three councils captured overnight headlines but Labour went on to lose Harrow to the Conservatives following a six-point decline in vote, and Tower Hamlets which fell to Aspire. Croydon too moved from Labour to no overall control and here the party's vote fell by 11.7 percentage points. Labour's vote fell by the same amount in Newham where the Greens polled strongly.

As well as losing high-profile boroughs, the Conservatives lost 100 seats across London as vote share declined sharply in some areas. The sharpest slumps were in Richmond upon Thames, Barnet and Hammersmith & Fulham.

Labour also took three councils in the south. It won Southampton, a council which regularly flips between the parties, directly from the Conservatives and took control in Crawley and Worthing too. There were no Labour councillors at all in Worthing between 1975 and 2018, but a changing population has led to a revival. Labour's vote share across the Worthing wards rose by thirteen percentage points with both the Conservatives and Liberal Democrats losing ground there.

In metropolitan boroughs in the north and midlands, on the other hand, it was a different story with Labour and the Conservatives both shedding seats compared to 2018. Labour did nothing like as badly here as in the elections a year ago, but gaining control of Kirklees council was little consolation for its failure to advance generally. Among Labour's better performances were Walsall and Dudley where its vote rose on the 2018 baseline but even here the increase was limited to just three or four percentage points. Labour's vote fell in a majority of the 33 metropolitan boroughs, most notably in Barnsley and Oldham with double-digit declines in share.

Support for the Conservatives fell, particularly in the north west, where Wirral, Bury, Salford, Trafford, Stockport, Rochdale and Knowsley were among the sharpest declines. In some of these boroughs the Liberal Democrats improved, increasing vote share most of all in Salford, but also doing well in Barnsley and Solihull. Elsewhere, it was the Green party that saw vote increases, with eight-point rises in Wirral, Knowsley and Bradford.

While the Greens significantly increased its seat tally they were overshadowed by the Liberal Democrats who recorded one of their best results in over a decade. They gained three times as many seats in England as did Labour and took control in Hull, a city they last ruled in 2010.

Liberal Democrats also took a decisive grip on the new semi-rural authorities of Somerset, and Westmorland & Furness. They also won Gosport and Woking in a throwback to the party's glory days in the 1990s, became the largest party in Tunbridge Wells, and were instrumental in depriving the Conservatives of control in West Oxfordshire.

In Wales, where the baseline comparison is with a strong Conservative performance in 2017, there was a similar pattern to England. Labour made significant seat gains in Cardiff and some other parts of the south. It became the largest party in previously Conservative Monmouthshire and just failed to win a majority in the Vale of Glamorgan.

In Scotland, where the Single Transferable Vote system mitigates against dramatic change, Labour did beat the Tories into second place in both votes and seats for the first time since the 2015 general election. But there was little sign of the SNP bubble bursting, with the party just seeing off Labour's challenge to win the most seats in Glasgow.

Table 1 shows that despite losing almost five hundred seats the Conservative party remains the largest party in local government, a position it has held since 2003. However, with large-scale district council elections in England scheduled for May this year that position may alter if the current state of public opinion continues.

The Conservatives also remain the largest party in terms of council control although here too the total of 126 councils is the lowest since 2003. Labour has a majority on just 87 councils with the Liberal Democrats on 26 councils, one more than in 2010, a year which marked the beginning of its slide in local government. The number of 'hung' councils continues to grow and it is now at its highest level in percentage terms since 1996.

Tables 3 & 4 describe for England and Wales (separate tables for Scotland appear alongside those results) summaries of votes, vote shares, party contestation, voter participation, the characteristics of candidates and the fate of incumbents seeking re-election.

Labour won 38% of all votes cast but almost half the seats. The Conservatives finished with 28% vote share but just over a fifth of the seats. The distribution of the Liberal Democrat vote share was far superior to that of the Greens, with almost parity for the former but a seat/vote ratio one to four for the latter.

Five and half thousand seats were contested by over eighteen thousand candidates – a candidate/seat ratio of 3.3. In only six in ten wards, voters had a choice of candidates from Conservative, Labour and Liberal Democrats. This relatively low figure is driven by some former counties becoming new unitary authorities and the inclusion of Wales, where party competition is rather different to that in England.

More than a third of candidates were women with the same fraction successfully elected. Almost four in ten of all councillors elected in 2022 is a woman with London boroughs highest with 45%. Over a fifth of candidates were incumbent councillors seeking re-election with over 80% of these being successful.

Given the absence of a consistent and reliable system for local authority reporting of both electorates on the day and number of valid ballot papers counted, we provide a range of methods for estimating overall turnout. The final figures range between 33.8 - 35.6%. There were 75 uncontested seats, all but three in Wales. Local authorities typically do not report electorates for these wards, thereby disappointing some of our readers who want to know what proportion of the electorate were denied a vote and/or what fraction of councillors were elected without a contest.

Using the Handbook

In 2022 there were elections in England for a total of 146 local authorities comprising 32 London boroughs, 33 Metropolitan boroughs, 21 unitary councils and 60 District councils. In Wales, all of the 22 county and county borough councils held elections. In Scotland there were elections for 32 unitary and Islands councils using the Single Transferable Vote.

Four new unitary councils, replacing former county/district councils, held their first elections to shadow authorities. These were Cumberland and Westmoreland & Furness, which replace Cumbria and its district councils, North Yorkshire and Somerset.

There were boundary changes affecting all of the London boroughs with the exceptions of Bexley, Croydon, Hackney, Kensington & Chelsea, Redbridge, Southwark, and Tower Hamlets. All of the Welsh unitary councils saw new ward boundaries implemented.

Additionally, boundary changes affected three metropolitan boroughs (Bury, Rochdale and St Helens); two shire districts (Gosport and St Albans) and one unitary authority (Reading).

The results sections cover respectively the London boroughs, metropolitan boroughs, unitary councils, including those for the new shadow authorities, district councils, Welsh councils and Scottish councils. Election results have generally been taken from figures provided by each local authority's website. Within these categories councils are organised alphabetically. Local authority ward results are reported in alphabetical order of ward name. The results are followed by maps which are arranged alphabetically. These show the winning party for each ward – in the case of multimember wards a striped pattern is used to identify different winners. The main parties are shown in their standard colours while Independents are in light brown, Residents Associations etc in a darker brown.

The aggregate statistics data include the percentage vote share for a range of parties and independent candidates. Where more than one councillor is elected then the vote of the best placed candidate for each party is used in calculating total vote. In contests featuring multiple Independent candidates these are grouped according to the number of seats in a ward. In the example of a three-member seat with six Independent candidates, therefore, the votes of the first and fourth placed Independent contribute towards the total vote figure. The change in vote share relates to the 2018 result at the local authority level (2017 in the case of Wales). The number of candidates presented by each party is also shown as too is the number successfully elected in 2022.

In the main body of the book the results for each ward are listed in alphabetical order within each local authority. The figure in brackets adjacent to the ward name is the local electorate for the 2022 election as provided to us by the local authority. We were unable to obtain electorates from a number of councils, mainly in Wales.

Occasionally some scheduled elections are postponed (normally because of the death of one of the nominated candidates) and the contest is held later. Such cases in 2022 are:

Redbridge	Mayfield	held on May 26, 2022
Sunderland	Copt Hill	held on June 16, 2022
Kingston upon Thames	New Malden Village	held on June 23, 2022
Neath Port Talbot	Port Talbot	held on June 23, 2022

Details from these postponed elections are included in all aggregate statistics.

Candidates are listed in descending order of vote within each ward. Surname and initials are used; 'Ms.' after a candidate's name indicates a woman; and the symbol '*' indicates that the candidate was a sitting councillor, although not necessarily for the ward contested for in 2022. Two points should be noted. First, it is sometimes difficult to establish from someone's name whether they are a man or a woman. Although lists of forenames are consulted there are some that remain unidentified. It is also difficult sometimes to track incumbent councillors seeking re-election although Kenneth Leadbeater has helped considerably.

'Vote' is the number of electors who supported each candidate and 'Share' the proportion of the total number who cast a valid ballot supporting each candidate. The process of rounding means that shares do not necessarily sum to 100. In the case of multi-member wards where more than one vacancy was filled we have used the vote of each party's best placed candidate in order to calculate total vote and hence party shares. Where a candidate(s) was returned unopposed then either '0' or '0.0' are used in the fields for vote, share and turnout. Below the list of candidates is a further line of data. First, we print the party whose candidate finished top of the poll at the previous election – note: the year may vary according to the particular electoral cycle for that ward. Next, is recorded the percentage turnout. Turnout is the proportion of the electorate that cast valid ballots at the election. In most cases turnout is that given by the local Electoral Administrator and has thus been calculated knowing the number of valid ballot papers issued. In a relatively small number of cases we have ourselves calculated turnout from the available information. The figure to the right of the turnout represents the percentage lead of the winning party over the second placed party rounded to one decimal place. The process of rounding means that in some cases the percentage majority may not be the same as the winning party's vote share minus the second-placed party's share.
