The unprecedented decision to stage two local electoral cycles at the same time made the results collection and processing in 2021 rather more complicated than it otherwise might have been. We are extremely grateful, therefore, for the partnership with House of Commons Library staff in compiling these results. The Commons Library has a strong reputation for publishing elections data, including some relating to local elections. Accordingly, the Handbook will no longer carry results from mayoral elections and we refer our readers instead to the Commons Library website at <https://commonslibrary.parliament.uk/parliament-elections/may-2021-elections-results-and-analysis/>

Our thanks, once again to Adam Gray for his superlative efforts in collecting candidate nominations and for permission to include his excellent ward/division boundary maps listing the parties/Independents that secured seats in these areas. Ken Leadbeater's contribution in identifying incumbents seeking re-election and checking our data on candidates always improves the Handbook's coverage.

Much of the responsibility for checking the data and compiling tables that appear both here and eventually on our website, www.electionscentre.co.uk, continues to fall to Galina Borisyuk. Lawrence Ware, who initially designed the database oversees its maintenance and continuing development as well as providing his own invaluable electoral resource at <https://www.uniballot.net/>. Both Galina and Lawrence have been invaluable this year in solving some of the problems caused by the interruption in the normal local electoral cycle.

Finally, our continuing thanks to Geoff Evans, leader of the Nuffield Elections Unit, and Jane Green, Director of the Nuffield Politics Research Centre, for providing an identity and congenial home from which we hope to 'future proof' our long-standing time series of local election results, statistics and commentary. This year saw our database pass a notable milestone, with information for the millionth election candidate being recorded. We've no idea how this compares with other countries' data but it's certainly something we're proud of and we extend our thanks to all the many people over the past forty years that have helped in this endeavour.

Introduction

Interpreting the results of these elections is made more difficult by the different baseline years. In the case of elections for the county councils, some unitary councils and a single metropolitan borough this is 2017. For the remaining authorities whose elections were postponed from 2020 the baseline year is 2016.

Table 1 shows the strength of each party's local government base following these elections. The Conservative party remains the largest in terms of seats, 39%, although this figure is down from its peak in 2009 when it held 46% of council seats across Britain. Labour retains second position but its progress in winning seats remains sluggish and some way short of the 48% of seat share it held in 1997. The number of Independent and councillors representing a myriad of smaller parties continues to grow. They now account for more than one in every seven seats and one must go back to 1982 to find a higher proportion.

The number of councils continues to fall, 385 being the current total and set to decline still further with pending structural changes to three English counties. It is more meaningful, therefore, to note each party's share of council control rather than the absolute number. More than a third of councils in Britain (36.4%) have a Conservative-run majority administration. This is a larger proportion than all other majority-run administrations combined, a situation that has endured since 2004. Labour's tally of 21.8% is less than half its proportion in 1997 (46.8%). The proportion of 'hung' councils rose slightly to 33%.

Interpreting the overall result of the May 2021 elections requires care. Our estimate of the National Equivalent Vote (NEV) is based on an analysis of almost ten million votes cast in over three thousand wards/divisions (more than 80% of the total). This estimate takes into account the baseline year, sometimes 2016, sometimes 2017. The final NEV estimate for 2021 is Conservative 40%, Labour 30%, Liberal Democrat 15% with the other parties and Independents taking the final 15%.

The separate tables of gains and losses, which make allowance for boundary changes in some authorities, show that in the metropolitan boroughs and shire districts, where the comparison is with the 2016 base, there is a large and direct exchange between Conservative and Labour. But in the shire counties and unitary councils, far fewer seats were won and lost and the two main parties each lost ground.

The explanation for this skewed distribution of gains and losses lies with the different contexts. The picture in 2021 is like that in 2017 – hence the relatively small number of seats changing hands between that year and this (see Table 2). The contrast with the 2016 figure is more dramatic, with the Conservatives increasing by eight percentage points and Labour falling three points relative to that year, a national swing of 5.5% from Labour to Conservative.

Note: In the case of boundary changes seat gains/losses are based on our estimated results for newly established wards. These figures, therefore, differ from those issued by news agencies. The baseline recognises the party that won the ward at the previous election and takes no account of councillor defections.

A total of 25 councils (17.5% of the 143 total) experienced a change in control, with three switching directly from Labour to Conservative. In Southampton, the Conservative party after making a gain of five Labour seats, re-gained a council it had lost a decade before. The same period had elapsed since the Conservatives last ran the administration in Harlow where seven seats were exchanged between the old and new incumbents. Amber Valley, which elects by 'thirds' continues to switch between the parties, with Labour relinquishing control after just two years in power.

Other notable Conservative gains include Cornwall where the party neither controlled it when it was a county nor since it became a unitary authority in 2009. Boundary changes here, councillor numbers falling from 123 to 87, may have helped the party. Northumberland too fell to the Conservatives, albeit by the smallest of margins, for the first time since its establishment as a two-tier county in 1973 and later transformation into a unitary council. After an eight-year absence the party re-gained majority control of Nottinghamshire, which Labour had lost to No Overall Control in 2016.

There were setbacks for the Conservatives, however, with Cambridgeshire, Isle of Wight and Tunbridge Wells lost. Having re-captured Cambridgeshire in 2017 the Conservatives lost seven seats in 2021 and the council reverts to No Overall Control once again. This pattern repeats in the second case with the Conservatives now in the minority on the Isle of Wight which currently has an administration run by Independents and the Green party. A twenty-three year run of Conservative majority control of Tunbridge Wells ended when seats were lost to the Liberal Democrats and Labour but the real damage had been done in 2019 when the Conservatives lost thirteen seats to a combination of Liberal Democrats, Labour and Tunbridge Wells Alliance candidates.

Labour lost overall control of four councils. Durham, where the comparison is with the 2017 voting, Labour fell from 74 to 53 seats while the Conservative party more than doubled its tally from 10 to 24 seats. In Plymouth the Conservative party benefitted from the evaporation of UKIP's former vote while in Sheffield Labour were undermined by a combination of Liberal Democrats and the Green party. Labour's nine-year period of majority control in Rossendale finally ended following further seat losses to the Conservatives while in West Lancashire it is the continuing challenge from local parties that explain Labour's defeat there.

Tables 3 & 4 together provide summaries of votes, vote shares, party contestation, voter participation, the characteristics of candidates and the fate of incumbents seeking re-election. The most notable feature of the 2021 results is the disappearance, compared with 2016 and to a lesser extent 2017, of UKIP's presence. There is also evidence of an improvement in the Green party in respect of the translation of votes into seats while Independents and other smaller parties continue to grow support.

The almost five thousand council seats being contested attracted over eighteen thousand candidates – a candidate/seat ratio of 3.8. In three-quarters of wards, voters had a choice of candidates from Conservative, Labour and Liberal Democrats. More than a third of candidates were women with the same fraction successfully elected but there is a marked contrast between the picture in metropolitan boroughs and the English shires. Almost a fifth of candidates were incumbent councillors seeking re-election while more than seven in every ten seats were contested by an incumbent with over 80% of these being successful.

As before, in the absence of a reliable system for reporting both electorates on the day and number of valid ballot papers counted, we provide a range of methods for estimating overall turnout. The final figures range between 35.6% to 36.1% turnout. There was a single uncontested division, Albrighton in Shropshire. In the first hard-copy Election Handbook that reported the results of the 1985 county elections across England and Wales there were almost 200 uncontested seats.

Using the Handbook

In 2021 there were elections in England for a total of 143 local authorities comprising 21 County councils, 28 Unitary councils, 35 Metropolitan boroughs and 59 District councils. In three counties, Cumbria, North Yorkshire and Somerset, elections were postponed pending structural changes to these authorities. Three districts located within these areas, Carlisle, South Lakeland (Cumbria) and Craven (North Yorkshire) also suspended elections.

Among the unitary councils there were three new councils (Buckinghamshire, North Northamptonshire, and West Northamptonshire). The elections in Buckinghamshire were fought on ward boundaries established for the now abolished district councils. The new 147-member council is the largest in the UK. In the two unitary authorities established on the boundaries of the former Northamptonshire county council the previous county divisions were used but instead elected three members each instead of one.

New boundaries were implemented in a further 11 councils.

Unitary councils: Cornwall, Halton, Hartlepool, Isle of Wight, and Wiltshire.

District councils: Basingstoke & Deane, Chorley, Oxford, and Pendle.

Metropolitan boroughs: Rotherham, and Salford

The results sections cover respectively the County councils, nine councils that we have designated as County unitaries, Metropolitan boroughs, the remaining 19 Unitary councils and finally shire district councils. Election results have generally been taken from figures provided by each local authority's website. Within these categories councils are organised alphabetically. Local authority ward results are reported in alphabetical order of ward name. The results are followed by Adam Gray's maps that show the party winning seats for each ward. Maps are arranged alphabetically by County and Unitary county councils in the first instance and then in alphabetical order for authorities whose elections were held over from 2020. The main parties are shown in their standard colours while Independents are in light brown, Residents Associations etc in a darker brown. In the case of multi-member wards where seats are divided a striped pattern is used to identify the different winners.

The aggregate statistics data include the percentage vote share for a range of parties and independent candidates. Where more than one councillor is elected then the vote of the best placed candidate for each party is used in calculating total vote. In contests featuring multiple Independent candidates these are grouped according to the number of seats in a ward. In the example of a three-member seat with six Independent candidates, therefore, the votes of the first and fourth placed Independent contribute towards the total vote figure. The change in vote share relates to the 2016/2017 result at the local authority level. The number of candidates presented by each party is also shown as too is the number successfully elected in 2021. In the main body of the book the results for each ward are listed in alphabetical order within each local authority. The figure in brackets adjacent to the ward name is the local electorate for the 2021 election as provided to us by the local authority.

Occasionally some scheduled elections are postponed (normally because of the death of one of the nominated candidates) and the contest is held later. Such cases in 2021 are: Norfolk, Sewell division; Norwich, Sewell ward; Kent, Elham Valley division. These are designated as by-elections in the Handbook followed by the date held. Details from these postponed elections are included in all aggregate statistics.

Candidates are listed in descending order of vote within each ward. Surname and initials are used; 'Ms.' after a candidate's name indicates a woman; and the symbol '*' indicates that the candidate was a sitting councillor, although not necessarily for the ward contested for in 2021. Two points should be noted. First, it is sometimes difficult to establish from someone's name whether they are a man or a woman. Although lists of forenames are consulted there are many that remain unidentified. It is also difficult sometimes to track incumbent councillors seeking re-election although Kenneth Leadbeater has helped considerably.

‘Vote’ is the number of electors who supported each candidate and ‘Share’ the proportion of the total number who cast a valid ballot supporting each candidate. The process of rounding means that shares do not necessarily sum to 100. In the case of multi-member wards where more than one vacancy was filled we have used the vote of each party’s best placed candidate in order to calculate total vote and hence party shares. Where a candidate(s) was returned unopposed then either ‘0’ or ‘0.0’ are used in the fields for vote, share and turnout. Below the list of candidates is a further line of data. First, we print the party whose candidate finished top of the poll at the previous election – note: the year may vary according to the particular electoral cycle for that ward. Next, is recorded the percentage turnout. Turnout is the proportion of the electorate that cast valid ballots at the election. In most cases turnout is that given by the local Electoral Administrator and has thus been calculated knowing the number of valid ballot papers issued. In a relatively small number of cases we have ourselves calculated turnout from the available information. The figure to the right of the turnout represents the percentage lead of the winning party over the second placed party rounded to one decimal place. The process of rounding means that in some cases the percentage majority may not be the same as the winning party’s vote share minus the second-placed party’s share.

Candidates standing for local election use an extensive variety of party labels. These labels, and the abbreviations used in this Handbook, are described below:
