We are pleased to announce that the Elections Centre is now based at the University of Exeter where we are joined as Co-Director by Doctor Hannah Bunting. Accordingly, the Centre's archive, containing hard copy of results from the post-reorganisation period, newspaper clippings of election reports from the pre-1973 era, documents relating to boundary and structural changes to local authorities and much else, has been migrated from Nuffield College, which has kindly stored it since 2017, to Exeter University. We are extremely grateful to Hannah and colleagues at Exeter for facilitating the Centre's migration, thus ensuring the preservation and continuation of this unique record of local elections in this country.

We also acknowledge the contribution of Richard Cracknell as he retires as Head of Social and General Statistics at the House of Commons Library. During his tenure the Library expanded its coverage of election statistics, producing invaluable reports and data sets of each general election and elections for the devolved institutions amongst others. In recent years, Richard has forged stronger links between the Commons Library, Exeter University and the Elections Centre, a relationship we expect to continue into the future.

The Handbook, like its recent predecessors, relies on a range of contributors including, Adam Gray for his work on compiling nominations and in producing maps for the Handbook. This year, Ken Leadbeater has compiled the results of the GLA elections as well as those for the mayoral and PCC elections. We continue to rely upon his work in tracking the performance of incumbents. Staff at the Commons Library were responsible for inputting the official council results and the arduous task of tracking down figures for valid and invalid ballots cast together with electorates. Finally, we are more than ever grateful to the skills of Galina Borisyuk who had to overcome the continuing upheaval to our automatic systems caused by the postponement of the 2020 elections.

Finally, this volume of the Elections Handbook is dedicated to our friend and colleague, Professor David Denver of Lancaster University who died in August 2024. Together with John Bochel of Dundee University, David pioneered the collection and publication of local election results for Scotland. This was our inspiration in the early 1980s for extending coverage to England and Wales. In time, the Handbook would incorporate David's own continuing collection of the Scottish results. He also worked with us in producing vote estimates following successive parliamentary constituency boundary changes where his detailed knowledge of voting patterns in Scotland was essential. He was a first-rate political scientist, great company and a pleasure to know.

Introduction

On May 2 the Conservative party registered one of its worst performances in any set of local elections. The party emerged with just over 500 seats, losing almost as many. It lost control of twelve councils, five directly to Labour. The heavy loss of seats and councils sustained over the past two years, saw the party's share of council seats decline to a level not seen since the mid 1990s.

Hardly the context then for calling a general election just weeks later as Prime Minister Rishi Sunak did. That election, held on July 4, saw the Conservatives lose 251 seats, reduced to just 121 MPs, their lowest ever total.

Sunak's decision, after such poor council election results, surprised many, not least within his own party. It remains unclear what lay behind his choice but some part of the explanation might lie with estimates of national vote shares we produced for Sky News and The Sunday Times.

The process of estimating a National Equivalent Vote (NEV) in 2024 examined over 3.8 million votes cast in 1,443 wards, where direct comparisons with previous ward results were possible. Because of the postponement of the 2020 elections the baseline year for comparison purposes was 2021.

The NEV estimated the Conservative share at 27%, the party's lowest rating since 1995. This was the first time since 1996 that the Conservative party had fallen below 30% for two successive years. Undoubtedly a poor performance but still better than the 24% the party was then receiving in national opinion surveys.

Those polls were showing Labour on 43%, a 19-point lead over the government. But the local election results painted a different story of the gap between Conservative and Labour, which may have influenced Sunak's thinking. Labour's NEV estimate was just 34%, two-points lower than in 2023, and a nine-point difference compared with its polling average.

There was scope in these figure for thinking also that the Liberal Democrat threat to the Conservatives might be receding. Its NEV dropped to 16%, a two-point drop from the previous year.

Declining support for the three main parties was reflected in an increase for the catch-all category of 'others'. A combination of Greens, Independents, local Independent groups and Reform were estimated to have a NEV of 23%.

A separate exercise undertaken by the BBC for calculating national vote estimates produced similar figures to our own: Conservative 25%, Labour 34%, Liberal Democrats 17%, Others 24%.

The estimates are confirmed by analysis of data at lower levels of aggregation. In 1,200 wards, with an election held in both 2023 and 2024, shows an average percentage point change of -2.6 for Conservative, one of -1.8 for Labour and -1.3 points for the Liberal Democrats.

There are interesting variations both across regions and between local authorities. The average Conservative decline in the north west and west midlands is around three percentage points but a two point decline in the south east. Labour's largest falls of over four percentage points were in the north west and Yorkshire where the impact from independent candidates campaigning on the Gaza issue was strongest. By contrast, its vote rose by one percentage point in the south east.

Much larger fluctuations in voting patterns are found among separate local authorities. Labour gained Cannock Chase, Nuneaton & Bedworth and Redditch directly from the Conservatives with Tamworth won from a position of no overall control. The largest reversal of fortune in terms of seats transfers saw Labour win fifteen seats in Nuneaton & Bedworth (the Conservative to Labour swing there was 16-points) but there were also double-digit swings in the other two councils.

Tamworth, where only ten seats were at stake, saw nine change hands as local Conservatives fell victim to the sharp contrast in their national party's fortune from 2021. A parliamentary by-election held there in October the previous year saw a 24-point swing from Conservative to Labour. The local elections saw the Conservative fall by 22-points with Labour enjoying a 21-point increase in vote compared with the baseline of 2021.

Two other direct Labour gains from the Conservatives were Adur and Rushmoor. Adur, adjacent to Worthing and with many local services jointly administered, followed its neighbour into the Labour majority control column for the first time in the council's 51-year history. The same feat was achieved in Rushmoor when Labour made the seven gains needed to take it over the line. The swing from Conservative to Labour in both averaged about 16-points

The Conservatives did succeed in retaining control in Walsall by not losing any seats there. Here, as elsewhere, although its own vote declined so too did Labour's as voters switched support to other candidates.

The Conservative vote fell by more than 20-points in eleven authorities with Havant heading the list with a decline of 31-points. Using estimates of pre-election seat distributions following ward boundary changes, the party made 17 losses there, with Labour and the Liberal Democrats winning seven and five seats respectively. The Greens too made three gains but the two seats in separate wards won by Reform candidates grabbed the headlines because they were the party's only council successes.

The Conservatives proved to be vulnerable in a clutch of authorities in Essex where further boundary changes meant a change from the normal 'thirds' to whole council elections. Basildon recorded a net loss of 12 Conservative seats with the spoils evenly divided between Labour, which becomes the largest party in the hung council, and Independents. The Conservative lost control in neighbouring Brentwood but there it remains the largest party, two seats ahead of the Liberal Democrats.

Harlow, featured prominently in leader Keir Starmer's local election campaign itinerary and Labour clearly believed it would fall to them. Instead, on new boundaries and all 33 seats in play, Labour won 16, one fewer than the Conservatives who retained majority control.

In the south west, another notable Labour performance in Plymouth produced a further 10 seats as the Conservatives emerged with just one seat from the 14 it was defending. It was always unlikely the Conservatives would retain control of Gloucester but a loss of 15 seats made it a certainty. Although Labour also made gains here it was the Liberal Democrats who inflicted most damage, becoming the largest party on the new council.

Labour's recovery in North East Lincolnshire took a further step forward. The council was in Labour hands until 2003 when the party lost seats to both the Conservatives and Liberal Democrats. For much of the time afterwards it remained hung until 2019 when the Conservatives won a narrow majority which increased significantly following the 2021 election. A loss of eight seats this time means the Conservatives now lose overall control while remaining the largest party, four seats ahead of Labour.

In some parts of the country, however, Labour was in retreat. Bristol, which abandoned the directly-elected mayor model, saw Labour lose three seats with the Greens making a net gain of 10 seats, narrowly missing out on an overall majority. The Greens would go on to capture the Bristol Central constituency from Labour at the July election.

The largest number of Labour defeats, ten losses, happened in South Tyneside as its council majority fell from 28 to just two. A combination of a long-running dispute involving refuse collectors and an 'inadequate' rating for children's services prompted a backlash from voters. There was a double-digit fall in Labour's vote and a corresponding rise for the Independents who advance to 15 seats.

Oxford too saw Labour take a step backwards following on from its loss of control last October when nine councillors resigned over the national party's stance on Gaza. It was defending 11 vacancies but lost seven of those, mostly to the new Independents.

The conflict in the middle east, which saw the resignation of more than a hundred Labour councillors before the election, had consequences for council control in both Kirklees and Oldham. Losing five of its seven seats in Kirklees following an eleven-point decline in vote share reduced Labour representation to 31 councillors, now four seats short of an overall majority.

The decline in Labour's vote in Oldham matched that in Kirklees. Again, these defeats had important consequences for council control, ending thirteen years of Labour majority rule.

There were some spectacular changes of fortune evident in detailed ward results. In Blackburn, Labour's vote plunged by more than a third in eight wards when compared with 2023. Bradford too saw Labour's vote share fall in 22 of the council's 30 wards, with an average fall of 23 percentage points. Labour's position in Rochdale looked threatened by George Galloway's Workers Party following his victory in the parliamentary by-election, yet Labour lost only the Central ward and retained 13 others.

The Liberal Democrats made a net gain of over a hundred seats, taking them to over five hundred seats, more than the number won by the Conservatives. To an extent they were hampered in the battle for publicity because the party's council successes arrived relatively late on Friday.

In Dorset it was a close run to the line. The unitary authority, which had held its previous election in 2019, eventually produced a thirteen-seat swing away from the Conservatives and a Liberal Democrat majority of two seats.

Their other gain was Tunbridge Wells where there was another whole council election. Previously under no overall control, the voters elected 22 Liberal Democrats, giving them a majority of five over the other parties and Independents. The party previously held it for two years in the late 1990s.

But there was to be a major disappointment in Wokingham. The party had expected to take advantage of new boundaries and a whole council election to build a strong majority. The Conservative did lose seats, but only four of them and with the Liberal Democrats also losing two, the party could only finish on 27 seats, one short of a majority.

There is no question that had the Greens won control in Bristol there would have been much greater media coverage of their local government performance. Stroud's results were announced on Saturday by which time the media narrative had moved onto mayoral and Police and Crime Commissioner contests. The Greens took advantage of a Conservative collapse, gaining a further nine seats and with Labour also adding to its total these two parties now have a strong lead over the other parties. The pattern of taking seats from the Conservatives continued in Maidstone where nine seats were exchanged but in Hastings there were gains from Labour also.

Reform UK contested fewer than one in ten vacancies, concentrating resources on a handful of councils. Sunderland, an early declarer, suggested that the fall in Conservative support mirrored the increase for Reform. Reform's presence in Hartlepool, Plymouth and Sandwell likely squeezed the Conservative vote there too.

Table 1 reveals the toll on Conservative strength in local government following its long tenure in government. In 2010, when David Cameron formed a coalition government with the Liberal Democrats, the Conservatives held 45% of council seats across Britain and majority control in 201 of 405 (52%) councils. Following the 2024 elections, only 27.9% of councillors are Conservative and the party has overall control in only 54 of 369 (14.6%) authorities.

That said, its situation in 2024 is generally better than 1995/1996, prior to its heavy defeat at the 1997 general election: in 1996 it held just 19% of council seats in Britain. At the regional level some parts of the country have moved further away from the Conservatives. London, for example, has seen the party's share of council seats fall to just 22%, a five-point drop from the figure in the mid 1990s. In the North West of England, the current Conservative strength is close to the point it fell to in 1996, whereas in the West Midlands Conservative councillors currently comprise 41% of the total, more than double the proportion of 1996.

But neither Labour nor the Liberal Democrats are at the level they were in the mid 1990s. At Labour's peak in 1996 it controlled 47.9% of council seats compared to just 35.4% it has after being in opposition for the past fourteen years. The Liberal Democrats now have 16.7% of seats compared to 22.3% in 1996.

The explanation for these differences lies with the growth of both the Greens and a growing tendency for council-based Independent groups to contest and win seats. Table 2 shows that Labour and the Liberal Democrats combined accounted for fewer than three hundred net gains with the Greens making a gain of 74 seats and others some 109 seats.

These figures, therefore, differ from those issued by other news agencies. Table 3 shows the distribution of votes and seats across the metropolitan boroughs, unitary and district councils. The Conservatives polled less than a quarter of votes with Labour's share just over a third. The Greens took one in eight votes, with a uniform pattern across the different types of council. Reform, which national polling figures suggested was garnering support among a significant fraction of the electorate, only contested just over one in ten seats.

The slump in support for the Conservative party is evidenced by the fact that its seat share fell below that of its vote share. At the same time, Labour's position as the most popular choice was barely reflected in a notable 'winner's bonus'. The contrast between the Liberal Democrats and the Greens highlights the relative efficient vote distribution of votes with the former winning almost three times as many seats for similar contestation patterns.

Reform UK won just two seats overall, while Independents and other small parties accounted for over one in ten seats.

Table 4 shows that over ten thousand candidates contested the 2,659 seats – a ratio of 3.8 candidates per seat. Over 14.6 million electors were eligible to vote with aggregate turnout of 31.6%. No seats were uncontested while over three-quarters of wards provided voters with a choice of candidate from the three main parties.

Women candidates accounted for 35.4% of the total numbers standing and met with greater success than men with 39.4% elected. Our calculations suggest that over two thousand incumbents sought re-election; 76.9% of seats featured a councillor seeking re-election. Overall, 1,603 incumbents were re-elected meaning that just short of eight in ten were successful.

Using the Handbook

In 2024 there were elections for a total of 107 local authorities across England. These comprised, 31 Metropolitan boroughs, 18 unitary councils and 58 District councils. In addition, there were ten mayoral elections fought under first past the post.

There were ward boundary changes affecting 21 authorities. Two metropolitan boroughs were re-warded, Dudley and North Tyneside, while Wokingham was the sole unitary council similarly affected. The 18 shire districts that were implementing new boundaries are Basildon, Brentwood, Cannock Chase, Castle Point, Cheltenham, Epping Forest, Fareham, Harlow, Havant, Maidstone, North Hertfordshire, Nuneaton & Bedworth, Redditch, Rossendale, Stevenage, Tandridge, Tunbridge Wells, and Worcester. Election results have generally been taken from figures provided by each local authority's website. The results sections cover respectively the metropolitan boroughs, unitary councils, and district councils. Within these categories councils are organised alphabetically. Local authority ward results are reported in alphabetical order of ward name.

Following the Introduction a section on aggregate statistics for each local authority appears. Against the local authority name is the aggregate percentage turnout. The overall vote share and change in vote appears, together with the number of candidates appearing for seven 'party' categories, including Reform UK. The Table reports on the number of seats won for each category.

In the main body of the book the results for each ward are listed in alphabetical order within each local authority. The figure in brackets adjacent to the ward name is the local electorate for the 2024 election as provided to us by the local authority. We were unable to obtain on the day electorates from a number of councils and relied instead on other sources.

One scheduled election was countermanded because of the death of a candidate and the contest held later. This was Radford ward in Coventry where the election was fought on June 20th.

Candidates are listed in descending order of vote within each ward. Surname and initials are used; 'Ms.' after a candidate's name indicates a woman; and the symbol '*' indicates that the candidate was a sitting councillor, although not necessarily for the ward contested for in 2023. Two points should be noted. First, it is sometimes difficult to establish from someone's name whether they are a man or a woman. Although lists of forenames are consulted there are some that remain unidentified. It is also difficult sometimes to track of incumbent councillors seeking re-election although Kenneth Leadbeater has helped considerably in making these data as accurate as possible.

'Vote' is the number of electors who supported each candidate and 'Share' the proportion of the total number who cast a valid ballot supporting each candidate. The process of rounding means that shares do not necessarily sum to 100. In the case of multi-member wards where more than one vacancy was filled we have used the vote of each party's best placed candidate in order to calculate total vote and hence party shares. Where a candidate(s) was returned unopposed then either '0' or '0.0' are used in the fields for vote, share and turnout. Below the list of candidates is a further line of data. First, we print the party whose candidate finished top of the poll at the previous election – note: the year may vary according to the particular electoral cycle for that ward. Next, is recorded the percentage turnout. Turnout is the proportion of the electorate that cast valid ballots at the election. In most cases turnout is that given by the local Electoral Administrator and has thus been calculated knowing the number of valid ballot papers issued. In a relatively small number of cases we have ourselves calculated turnout from the available information. The figure to the right of the turnout represents the percentage lead of the winning party over the second placed party rounded to one decimal place. The process of rounding means that in some cases the percentage majority may not be the same as the winning party's vote share minus the second-placed party's share.

Greater London Authority Elections

Greater London Authority Elections

Three elections in Greater London were held concurrently on 2 May 2024, the Mayor of London, 14 constituency members of the Greater London Assembly and for the election of London-wide Assembly Members.

The previous elections had been due in 2020, but were postponed to 2021, due to the covid lockdown, resulting in a five-year term of office, followed by a three-year term of office.

The 32 London Boroughs and the City of London are grouped into 14 constituencies, comprising between 2 and 4 boroughs each. All voting information across the three elections is published by constituency and not by individual borough.

Mayoral Election

Sadiq Khan (Lab) was re-elected mayor of London for a third time, after his victories in 2016 and 2021. He is the first Mayor of London to secure a third term.

The Elections Act 2022 had introduced first-past-the-post elections in place of the supplementary vote system (SV). Sadiq Khan was elected with 43.8% of the vote, so the election would have proceeded to a second count under the SV system.

There were 13 candidates, but only 4 of them received more than 5% of the vote. Sadiq Khan achieved a comfortable majority of 11.1% over Susan Hall, the Conservative candidate. 9 candidates were male and 4 were female. The turnout was 40.3% and there was an overall swing of 3.2% from Conservative to Labour since the 2021 election.

Table 2 shows the detailed voting across the 14 Greater London Assembly (GLA) constituencies. Sadiq Khan was ahead in 9 constituencies (+ve maj%), whilst Susan Hall led in the remaining 5 constituencies (-ve maj%). There was a swing from Conservative to Labour since 2021 in all 14 constituencies, ranging from 4.9% in North East to 1.6% in Havering and Redbridge.

The allocation of the eleven London-wide seats uses a formula which takes into account the number of constituency seats already won by each party. The formula divides the total votes (V) cast in the London-wide election by (S+1) where S is the cumulative number of seats won.

For example, applying this formula in the case of Labour:

$$V/(S+1) = 951,056/(10+1) \text{ or } 86,459.636.$$

In the case of the Conservatives, winners of three constituency seats, the formula is $648,269/(3+1)$ or 162,067.25.

The Green party, which did not win any of the 14 constituency seats, begins the allocation of list seats with its total London-wide vote, 286,746, simply divided by 1. Since this is the largest number for any party at round 1, the first list seat is awarded to the Greens. Its divisor now increments by a further one to take account of this.

Table 8 shows the order of allocation for 11 list seats. In all cases the number shown is rounded to the nearest integer.

Comparing votes across the three elections

Table 9 sets out the voting data for the three concurrent elections side by side, both in total and in detail by constituency, both in raw results and in percentages.

The turnouts were similar.

Labour and Conservatives both achieved a higher percentage of the vote in the mayoral election, with Sadiq Khan winning 43.8% against 38.4% in the London-Wide GLA vote, and Susan Hall winning 32.7% against 26.2% in the London-Wide GLA vote.

The changes in vote share indicate a personal vote for Sadiq Khan, who increased his share by 3.2%, whereas the London-wide Labour share only went up by 0.3% and Labour vote share in the constituency votes went down by 1.9%.

The Lib Dems, Greens and Reform UK all performed much better in the constituency votes, where there were very few fringe candidates to distract the voters.

The most remarkable disparity was the Lib Dem performance in South West, where they gained the Constituency seat with 32.6% of the vote, but polled only 23.2% in the London-Wide GLA vote and a mere 12.5% in the mayoral election.

Here are the overall percentages of the main parties in the three elections.

Incumbents sought re-election in all 6 continuing CAMs and the Salford city mayor – five were re-elected –

- Andy Burnham (Lab) in Greater Manchester,
- Steve Rotherham (Lab) in Liverpool City Region,
- Oliver Coppard (Lab) in South Yorkshire,
- Ben Houchen (Con) in Tees Valley
- Tracy Belbin (Lab) in West Yorkshire, plus Paul Dennett (Lab), the Salford city mayor.

Andy Street (Con) was defeated by Lab in the West Midlands by the narrow margin of 1,508 out of 596,976 valid votes (0.3%).

Labour won the three new CAMs –

- Claire Ward in the East Midlands,
- Kim McGuinness in the North East
- David Skaith in York and North Yorkshire.

Six of the CAMs elected on 2 May 2024 and the Salford city mayor are male, with just 3 female CAMs, Claire Ward, Kim McGuinness and Tracy Belbin.

A total of 53 candidates were nominated for the ten mayoral vacancies, but only Labour and Conservative contested all of them. The Greens and Lib Dems both contested nine mayoralties, with no Green in Tees Valley and no Lib Dem in Salford. Reform UK contested four mayoralties. There were also 8 Independent candidates, one Social Democratic Party, one Yorkshire Party and one TUSC.

Amongst the eight Independent candidates were Jamie Driscoll in the North East, as mentioned above, who came second behind Labour. The Independent candidate in the West Midlands, Akhmed Yakoob, a solicitor, who described himself as a lifelong Human Rights activist for Gaza, Kashmir and Khalistan, polled 11.7% overall in what was otherwise a knife-edge Labour-Conservative contest and achieved just under 20% in Birmingham, primarily winning Labour supporters, which resulted in a small swing in Birmingham from Labour to Conservative. Subsequent to the elections, he achieved notoriety by volunteering to represent the men involved with the police in the Manchester Airport incident.

Nick Buckley, standing as an Independent in Greater Manchester, came in third with just under 8% of the vote, but polled more than 10% in Manchester itself. In 2021 he had been the Reform UK candidate in Greater Manchester. He was the founder of a homeless charity in Manchester, but was dismissed by the Trustees in 2020 after writing an article critical of the Black Lives Matter movement. He was reinstated a month later, when the existing trustees stepped down to be replaced by a new set of trustees.

In terms of gender, 7 men and 3 women were elected. All 3 women elected were Labour. 40 of the 53 candidates were men and 13 were women.

The party breakdown of candidates by gender was as follows:

	Male	Female
Lab	7	3
Con	7	3
Green	7	2
LD	6	3
Reform UK	3	1
Ind	8	0
Social Democratic Party	1	0
Total	40	13

Labour won nine of the mayoral elections, five of them with more than 50% of the vote. The detailed figures show that Labour were ahead in every single district of Greater Manchester, Liverpool City Region, North East, South Yorkshire and West Yorkshire. Conservatives were ahead in only six of the 26 constituent districts in East Midlands, West Midlands and York and North Yorkshire – Derbyshire Dales, Newark and Sherwood, Dudley, Solihull, Walsall and North Yorkshire.

In Tees Valley, however, Ben Houchen (Con) held his seat, retaining the lead in all five districts.

Turnout ranged from 23.5% in Liverpool City Region to 32.4% in West Yorkshire, with an average of 29.4%.

The incumbency factor is clearly significant in Combined Authority Mayoral elections, as the existing mayor usually has a strong profile in the locality. Ben Houchen in Tees Valley had an overwhelming lead of 45.5% in 2021, in what was then a two-horse race – and managed to survive a swing against him of 16.6%. Andy Street in the West Midlands was defending a lead of 9% and lost his seat very narrowly on a 4.6% swing. The swings to Labour in the rock-solid territory of Greater Manchester, South Yorkshire, the North East, Liverpool City Region and West Yorkshire were more modest, but Labour started from a high base in these areas with well-known incumbent candidates.

Police & Crime Commissioner
Election Results

There are 43 police authorities in England and Wales. The City of London Police have special arrangements and 5 elected mayors undertake a dual role, serving as Police and Crime Commissioner (London, Greater Manchester, South Yorkshire, West Yorkshire and York & North Yorkshire). The remaining 37 police authorities have a directly elected Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC), including the 4 police authorities in Wales.

The previous elections had been due in 2020, but were postponed to 2021, due to the Covid lockdown, resulting in a five-year term of office, followed by a three-year term of office.

39 PCCs had been elected in 2021, but in 2024 the Combined Authority Mayors for both South Yorkshire and York & North Yorkshire acquired the PCC role, thus reducing the number of PCC contests to 37.

The Elections Act 2022 introduced first-past-the-post elections in place of the supplementary vote system (SV), a change which affected the election of PCCs. Six Labour PCCs were elected in 2024 with more than 50% of the vote (Cleveland, Durham, Merseyside, Northumbria, Nottinghamshire and West Midlands), so the remaining 31 elections would have proceeded to a second count under the previous SV system.

The 37 PCCs were elected on 2 May 2024, seven of them holding parallel elections in whole and one in part with the Combined Authority Mayoral elections.

The final column, Swing, is positive when the direction is from Con to Lab, negative when from Lab to Con. The exceptions to this rule are Dorset, Gloucestershire, Hertfordshire and Surrey where swing is from Con to LD and Dyfed-Powys where the swing is from Con to PC. Swings have been calculated from the 2021 PCC election results. With only 8 Green candidates, 2 Reform UK and 6 Independents, the majority of contests were confined to 3 major political candidates (4 in the 4 Welsh PCCs).

In England, the swings from Conservative to Labour varied from 22.2% in Cumbria to 1.4% in Humberside. The swings in Wales were lower, because of movements in the Plaid Cymru vote. Gwent even scored a swing of 1.7% from Labour to Conservative. The swings from Conservative to Lib Dem ranged from 10.3% in Gloucestershire to 3.9% in Surrey. The swing from Conservative to Plaid Cymru in Dyfed-Powys was 8.2%.

More detailed results of each PCC election, broken down by local authority areas, can be found in the Appendix.

Out of the 37 PCCs under contest in 2024, Conservatives were defending 29 (including Wiltshire where they had held a by-election), Labour were defending 7 and Plaid Cymru were defending Dyfed-Powys.

In 2024, Conservatives won 19 PCCs, Labour won 17 and Plaid Cymru held Dyfed-Powys.

27 PCC contests resulted in no change, with Labour gaining 10 PCCs from the Conservatives (Avon and Somerset, Bedfordshire, Cheshire, Cleveland, Cumbria, Derbyshire, Lancashire, Norfolk, Northamptonshire and Nottinghamshire).

The Conservatives won 19 PCC contests and finished second behind Labour or Plaid Cymru in the 18 remaining contests. Labour came second in 15 Conservative PCCs, with the Liberal Democrats emerging as the runners-up in 4 (Dorset, Gloucestershire, Hertfordshire and Surrey).

A number of the contests ended with a close result, no less than 13 results achieving a majority below 5%, as set out below. Had the previous supplementary vote system (SV) still been in operation, the outcome of many of these contests would have been different.

Plaid Cymru had a majority of 12,189 (15.9%) over Conservative in Dyfed-Powys.

31 retiring PCCs sought re-election (26 Conservatives, 4 Labour and 1 Plaid Cymru). 8 Conservative incumbents were defeated. The remaining 23 retiring PCCs were re-elected (18 Conservatives, 4 Labour and 1 Plaid Cymru).

A total of 136 candidates stood for election in PCC contests, as set out below.

	Total	Men	Women
Lab	37	23	14
Con	37	29	8
Lib Dem	35	31	4
Green	8	4	4
Plaid Cymru	4	2	2
Independents	6	5	1

Reform UK	2	2

Total	136	102	34

Labour and Conservatives contested all PCC elections and Plaid Cymru contested the 4 Welsh elections. The Liberal Democrats contested all apart from Cleveland and West Midlands, where they appeared to stand down in tight contests between Labour and Conservatives.

The Greens contested 8 (Avon and Somerset, Hertfordshire, Leicestershire, Merseyside, Norfolk, Suffolk, Sussex and West Mercia). Reform UK contested only 2 (Derbyshire and Lincolnshire).

12 PCC contests had a complete slate of male candidates.

The disappearance of the Independents continues, from 52 (11 elected) in 2012 to 25 (3) in 2016, 19 (0) in 2021 and just 6 (0) this time - a sign that the political parties have been getting steadily more organised in campaigning for them.

The 37 successful candidates comprise 24 men and 13 women, as follows

	Total	Men	Women
Lab	17	8	9
Con	19	15	4
PC	1
Total	37	24	13

Overall turnout was 24.1%, ranging from 15.5% in Gwent to 32.3% in Northumbria. This is mirrored on a regional basis with turnout ranging from 16.8% in Wales to 30.1% in the North East.

Table A4: Local authority level results for PCC elections

PCC authorities are listed in alphabetical order. The results for each PCC begin with the overall figures for total electorate, valid votes cast and votes for each party. The leading party is indicated and its overall majority.

Following the overall total the figures for the constituent local authority areas are provided, beginning with unitary authorities where those exist followed by district councils. The parties are listed in descending order of vote. The figure for majority in some cases will be negative, indicating that the party winning the overall election is not the leading party in that particular locality.

The second section of figures relate to percentage turnout and party shares/majorities. The final column denotes the swing since the previous election and the direction of swing.

We were unable to obtain comprehensive electorate figures for Cumbria, Devon & Cornwall and Lancashire.
